lu the Morning Call she displayed some of most captivating qualities of a reflued and ecomplished comedienne. We are sorry to ru that to-night closes her engagement for the season. The play in which she makes her last appearance is a dramatization of Scott's antiful and touching etory of the Heart of Mid Lothlan. The play takes its name from the humble but noble heroine of the story Jenme Dears. The version of the play is the one by Bonreleanit, which had so remarkable a run of almost an entire season at Laura Keene's, and which has given rise to numerous legal suits on the part of the somewhat irritable dramatist for fringements on his rights. Miss Ince has purchased the right to perform this play from Mr. Bonreleanlt, and it will be produced with all the effects and accessories which marked its first appearance in New York. The remainder of the performance will censist of a dance by Miss llight, songe by Mr. Lytton, and the laughable farce of the Tailor of Tamworth.

DIFFICULTY AT A BARBECUE-A MAN SHOOTS HIS GIRL-LINCH LAW THREATENED,-An affalr occurred on Thursday, about six miles from Wluehester, Ky., at a political barbecue, that nearly had a tragleal termination. A young man named West was present, in company with Miss Ilyatt. Angry words occurred between West and one of the managers; the girl interposed and endeavored to get her gallant away.— He declined, and finally became so exasperated at the manager that he drew his pistol and discharged it, missing his aim, however, and shoot-ing Miss Hyatt. The ball entered her face, inflieting a bad but not necessarily a fatal wound.

The erowd became exasperated at the conduct of West in shooting when surrounded by hundreds of persons, and at such a time. They seized him, and placing a haiter around his neck, amidet the shouts of the multitude and the wildest excitement, led him to the nearest tree for the purpose of hanging the reckless young mau. Severai prominent citizens, after much trouble, succeeded in calming the crowd, and resented West from Its clutches and removed him to a place of safely. We are informed by an eve-witness that West during the whole proceedings, showed unflinchlng game. He sald all he wanted was a fair fight, and he would fight them all, one at a time. Undoubtedly had the lynchers executed their hasty and lawless purpose, West would have died with uublanched cheek and unshaken nerve

Five Lives Lost.

Collinsville, Ill., Oct. II, 1860.

Editors Missouri Democrat: To-day, about 9)-z o'clock, one of the most awful calamities that ever happen to a small village, occurred here.
The small portable engine and boiler recently put my by Mr. J. A. Logan, on Main street, opposite Mrs. Wicklite's residence, burst with tremendous force, instantly killing Mr. Logan, litte Willie H. Wing, son of Dr. H. Wing, and two other men, names not known, and fatally injuring Turner Johnson, and severely bruising and scalding several others.

Little Willie was blown through the end of the building nearly one hundred yards, and
through a board feuce, but was, strange to tell,
not much disfigured. The two not recognized were shockingly mutilated, their heads being torn to pieces. The boiler was thrown across the street, carrying away in its course a fence and the woodhouse of Mrs. Wickliffe.
Our village is in deep mourning. Mr. Logan

COURTESIES OF THE NEW YORK RELIGIOUS PRESS.—The religious weeklies of New York have often reproved—sometimes deservedly—the misdeeds of certain seenlar papers. If the latter were not too busy with the returns of the late elections, they might have an opportunity of retaliating. For instance, the New York Christian Intelligencer, week before last, alluding with some severity to the Independent's publication of an article by John Bigelow, on Mirabean, said of that newspaper:

"We hope the devil does not take it; il would make him worse than he is. See Matt. 23: 15."

The Independent replied last week by stating

MELANCHOLY FATE OF A MISSIONARY'S WIFE.
On the 11th of September, the bark Punjaub, of Sunderland, Insving on board as passenger a French missionary (the Rev. A. Ahousset), his wife, and six children, struck on the Sevan Stones, between the Scilly islands and the Lizard, three times. The bingboat was got out, and, after great exertion, four children were got into her; but the wife of the Rev. A. Abousset could not be taken from the rigging. Seeing that the vessel was sinking fast, the captain and remainder of the crew went into the boat, and still tried to extricate Mrs. Ahousset from her perilous position, but could not succeed. Shortly after, the vessel sank Mrs. Abousset going down with it, in the sight and amidthe screams of her husband and children. The lwo hoats were afterwards picked up. M. Abousset has been laboring in Southern Africa since 1832, on behalf of the Paris Evangelical Missionary Society. Ite lad no time to save anything. Mrs. Abousset was an English lady, aboutforty-eight years of age.—[Liverpool Times.

BRECKINRIDGE STOCK

MARYLAND CERTAIN FOR THE DEMOCRACY.

When the telegraph brought us the news of he defeat of the K. N. candidate for Mayor at the municipal election on Wednesday last, we ould scarcely credit lt. It seemed too good to be true. When it was confirmed, we still thought there was some mistake about it. But there is no longer room for doubt. Know Nothlingism has been beaten down in its stronghold. The friends of BRECKINRIDGE and LANE have trluniphed where they least hoped for success. Baltimore is redeemed. And the change in Ballmore insures us Maryland.

This is, indeed, good news-glorious news! We claim the victory la Baltimore on the authority of the Baltimore Clipper, the Belleverite organ, whose editor, L. A. Whiteley, Esq., for-merly of the Louisville Journal, is now the Secretary of the National Executive Committee of the Union party, at Washington City. On the norning of the election, the 10th, it had three columns of short and stirring appeals to the Americans and Douglasites to vote for Hindes, the Union party candidate, against BROWN, whom they called the "BRECKINRIDGE-YANCEY candidate." But it was all in vain. Brown la lected by about 8,000 majority.

Wednesday, leave no sort of doubt, that the "Americans" and Douglastics generally supperted HINDES, while the friends of BRECKIN-RIDGE and LANE voted for Brown, aud triumphed! The Clipper says: Donglas men! the Yancey Breekinridgers have nominated Brown to smother your strength, and ery out that you are nowhere in Baltimore. Will you give them this victory, or will you rebuke their impudence and trickery by voting for Hindes and the Union nominee for the Council?

The following paragraphs from the Clipper of

A vote for Hindes to-day is a vote for Beli and Everett. A vote for Brown is n vote for Breekinridge, and a vote for Breekinridge is n vote for Lincoln and Hamlin.

If we elect Hindes to-day, Maryland will roll an immense majority for Bell and Everett.—

Friends of Douglas! Recollect to-day that the election of Brown will be trumpeted to the whole country as a defeat of the Douglas men of Maryland. This intelligence will be spread through Illinois and Indiana to injure the prospects of your candidate, and if on this account Lincoln shall be elected, the Breekites will be exampled up that

The Yancey-Breckites have taken np George William Brown to defeat the Douglas as well as the Beli meu. If he should be elected, they will proclaim It as a Breckinridge victory.— Friends of Donglas, shall this he done?

If Brown should be elected to-day, all the Yancey-Breckinridge inen will shout tremedously over the victory. We have no taste for such innsie Let the shouts be for Hindes and the Union and American ticket. the Union and American ticket.

Taglioni in Ilen Old Agb—The Glory of a Dancing Divinity Departed.—What can be imagined more melancholy, says a recent number of the New York Express, than the slight now presented of the rehearsals at the Grand Opera in Paris. Taglioui, once la Dece de la donse, has been obliged by Time, who, like pallida mors, knocks at every door, to abdicate her divinity; she no longer delights admiring crowds, nor by her enchanting grace extoristic plaudits of the schoing theater. And yet the somenirs of her former glory are too strong to allow her to live elsewhere, and every morning she visits the stage to superintend the rehearsals of ahaliet in which she is not to dance. The incomparable gyrations thatso fascinated the world can never more be renewed, but she groups the corps and arranges the tableaux, and directs the movements of the huddling ballet girls. Instead of coming at alight, amid howers and lights, and the incense of adulation, to whirl herself into attitudes of such grace that none could resist their charm, she nowappenrs in the morning in bounct and shawl, with wearisd and rheumatic limbs, her elasticity departed, her wondrons fascinations withered.

No more can she twine her arma in subtle movements that tell the language of passion or of sentiment, more delicately than words; no longer can she inspire her pedestals with an expression as incliably graceful as that of the old Greek statues; nor longer can she elevate one netter extremity to a hight unparalleled in the number of physical bistory, and sustain it, pointing to the stars, as long as the plandits of the house continue to exclude her nervons frame.

Alas, these glories are all past. Now her sincws bear her but stiffly up; her old bones are racked with aches; her movements are angular, and should she attempt the feats which once were unrivaled, and indeed which are unrivaled stiff, stubborn nature would sook remind her the passing that the passing the and should she attempt the feats which once were unrivaled and

The Sugar Planter adds, in regard to the effeets of the storm at West Baton Rouge: We learn of a number of cancesheds, cabins, &c., belonging to our planters, having been blown down, principally in the upper part of our parish. These losses are not very heavy, but are very amonying, from the fact that the rolling season is at hand, when the usual business of the plantation requires the entire force to be engaged in other matters. The cotton throughout the parish has been much injured. The Baton Rouge Comel, of the 6th, says:

Many of the sugar canes are laid on the ground, to rise no more; the trees, at least the turfy once, have been uproofed or twisted, and as to the fences, there is not one left standing. As a proof of the irresistible strength of the storm, the Messenger relates that a raft, belonging to Mr. Emile Jacob, broke its chains and its lines, and was carried up the river as far as the Messrs. Jourdau's plantation, six miles distant from the first place. However, no lives have been lost; but the total loss in the parish of St. James cannot be less than $500,000.

THE STORM AT NATCUEZ. The storm, the ravages of which in the vicinity of New Orleans have already been described, was very severe at Natchez. The Courler says the streets of the latter place present the appearance of a forest felled by the woodman's axe. The China tree suffered most. Chimneys and fences were flown down, and much damage was done to other property. This gale was the most severe that has visited the city since 1810.

The Hatch Divorce Case.

The petition of Benjamin F. Hatch for a divorce from Cora h. V. Hatch, came before the Suprame Court in Providence, R. I., last week, Mr. Hatch being a resident of that place. They were married in 18th, and for two years lived happily together; but in 1858 her manner became changed towards him, which he attributed to a changed towards him, which he attributed to diseased stata of the mind, brought on by con tinued speaking in the trance state. They gave clsion, but was soon surprised by another de-eision from the referees, pronouncing a com-plete separation between them, followed by a legal injunction forbidding him ever to visit her

The most terrific, the most disastrons gale which has visited our parish since 1812, says the Messenger, of the parish of St. James, took place last Tus-slay, between twelve and four o'clock P. M. A great number of sugar houses have been entirely destroyed, sheds, dwelling houses, and chimneys thrown down, and in many cause carried to a great distance by the violence of the storm. "Even St. Michael Church, Jefferson College, and the Couvent of the Sacred Heart have had their roofs injured, notwithstanding the solidity of those buildings.

Mageura is a color very much in repute—a brilliant red—and here is a bounct of Magenta velvet, trimmed at the front with like, the caps and crown of white triller rimmed with Magenta, and the inside with white flowers and sitk. The unanimons verdict is that the front shall be close to the face. There is a charming bridal bonnet of plain white corded silk, with double cape. Round the crown is a pointed leaf, and the trimming is white illusion and lace. The decorations on the ontside are white roses, green leaves, and beads, and lineids orange blossoms. Of ornaments there is meend of delicate and divine ideas, citt figures largely in all, but Madame Demorset clearly asserts that tinsel is "in bad taste, and will be corruption of the bird of Paradise!—of the Russian duck, and of the homely but beautiful ph asant—are to fall in soft showers over many a lovely head. CLOARS AND MANTILLAS.

It is generally conceded that the loose sack will be most commonly worn. There are namerous designs adapted to all ages, and apparently to both seres. A new idea is the Zonave jacket, which fits nearly to the waist, and is accompanied by a cloak, so that there is accommodations for all conditions of the atmosphere.—The fringss and embroderies are very elegant, and the cost of a silk sack varies from $50 to $150. Veivel maintains its proud supremacy. A cloak of this rich material lined white purple silk, and embroidered at the edges with a machine stitch in vivid colors, may, we think, be called a "stunner." For the opera, silks of the most gorgeous stripedness have been imported in bewildering profusion.

A novel and pleasing invention is a Turkish cloak, over which, from the left shoulder, depends a graceful searf, while the right shaulder is perfectly plain. For misses there is a companing cloak, denominated Zara, quite Arab sque in design. It is fitted to the shoulders in a sack form, with Bishop sleaves and Japanese cutts, and has two collars.

Suravis.

One house in New York has a stock of camel's hair shawls valued at $150,000. Their separate values range from $20 to $1,500, and their patterns are simptinous beyond description. The extreme agony is a heavy gold embrodery, and the expense of anch luxury we dare not disclose.

Let the thrade against crinoline cease. Let not man take that name in vain. Crinoline is a myth; they don't wear it. The spring skirt is alone immortal. As many as sixty springs are sometimes worn, and, by an ingenious centrivance, the "great annoyance of tapes slipping on the springs has been effectually remedied, by passing the fistening through the covering of the springs, making it impossible for them to slip or break away." The bell shape is the most popular, but there is no political preference in this fashion, however much corrupt factious may endeavor to fasten it upon the ladies.

There are several brilliant novelties in this delightful department of the tollette. There is a shoe with lappels that may be turned down from the delicate anele for the house, or may closely enease if for the street. There is a sollet of the tollette or the street. closely encase if for the street. There is a quitted earriage shoe of all colors, bound with velvet. Balmoral boots, that lace, maintain their hold upon the affection, and are universally worn. Of toliette-slippers there is an infinite variety. One Broadway establishment diffuses five hundred dozens of pairs of them every year. Bridal slippers of kid and satin, with rosettee, that alone are worth $1.25, are largely sold at $10 the pair. SUMMARY.

If we have indicated in this hasty sketch of the well-dressed woman a desire to keep up with the fashions, our duty is done, and the grave task of minutely detailing all the intracacies of the tollette may be left to professional modistes. We will say, however, that Bayadere modistes. FLEMINGSBURG, Ky., Oct. 11, 1890.

Editors Louisville Courser: I have only time to tell you that Flemingsburg was visited on yesterday by Messre. Backburn and Cunningham, two of the Assistant Electors of Breckinridge and Lane, who are now tilling their regular list of appointments in this portion of the State.—Mr. Van B. How he succeeded in establishing this point is just the way to me he more and convention. The meaning the control in establishing this point is just the way main always succeeds in establishing that which is not true. The gallant Assistant Electors of the State, Messrs. Blackhurn and Cunningham, to-day, have proven beyond controversy that John C. Breckinridge and Jos. Lanc are the men advocating the principles essential to the preservation of our glorious Republic.

One Mr. Young, of Bath, opened as a Douglas maintenant, and spoke thirty-five or forty ministes; and, as Blackburn said, "He might get on my question, but he would at last tall back upon the 'regularity of the Baltimore nomination." He spoke upon this question until the andience had become wearied with his harrangue, and of course he quit. Morrors of the Druse Massacres.

May God grant I may never again see such a sight as I watnessed three days ago, at Dierel-Kamar! and such would be the prayer of any man who has been in that town sluce the massacre. Although the place was under the special gevernment of the Sultau, no effort whatever has been made to hury the dead, even at this date of two months and a half after the tragedy. What has been done to hasten the disappearance of human bodies has been effected by the dogs and wolves and jackals of the surrounding districts. It was a fearful seene, there stood, nivety days ago, a thriving town of $0,000 souls and upwards; and, when the troubles in Lebanon broke out, nearly two thousand Christians, from various places, had sought refuge in the place. Where now are these images of God? Where are the comfortable hones the thisting trades the

The men of the place—ay, and some of the women, too, for I counted not less than a dozen in one spot—the men are here, these corrupting masses of putrid skulls are all that remains of them; their houses are all burnt or pulled down; their property all plundered or destroyed; their women beggars in the streets of Beyron: their male children hacked to plees by or no luch of that court, could any man, but he his steps ever so nicely, walk without putting his foot on some part or other of a dead man's body.

The skeletons are, with few exceptions, perfectly maked, for every survivor of the massacre that I have questioned—and more than a hundred have related the same tale to various parties in Beyrout—say so cold-blooded were the Druses in their marderous work, that, before butchering a man whose clothes were at all good, they first made him undress himself, and then hacked him to pieces with their long knives, thus preserving his garments mucu and unstained with blood. For some reason or other, however, they appear not to have taken the Maronite priests' clothes, as I observed many of the corpses still clad in the black coarse gown of the monks. The church and court-yard were strewn with torn church books and broken church ornaments; but here, as every where else, all that could be turned to the slightest use, even to the wooden lintels of the doors and the frames of the windows, had been taken away by the marauding hordes of murderers.

But even more than by the sight of the Maronite Church was I astonished and sickened on going finot the Turkish Governor's room, in the far interior of the Serai. Herathe great slaughter seems to have taken piace. Here—two and a half months after these marders—the ground of the room was still discolored and fat with human blood. Here still lay about fragmenta of torn dresses and clothing, bearing witness to many fearful deeds of blood. And here, below the large window of the room, lay heap npon heap, and pile npon pile, of corrupting human bodies, a secthing mass of advanced putrefaction. Here, too, were forn mass books and gospels in numbers, and also many pages of a well printed edition of "Fenelon's Life," in French, showing that in this, the government house, no doubt some of the better educated Christian community had songht a refuge, but had found a grave. Brave Boys.—On the last of September, says the Gaiveston News, the Indians made an incircion into Mason county, coming within a few miles of Fort Mason, stealing horses. Six young men from Mason—the oldest only twenty-ore, the others mere youths—started in pursuit, at full gallop, and rode sixty miles the first day before dark, commencing at 10 A. M. The next day they overtook six Indians, after a chase of fifteen miles, and a fight of an honr resulted—The Indians then left with their horses, about twenty-dwe in number. None of the Indians were killed, hut several were wounded, one of their horses killed, these wounded, one of their horses killed, and the rest wounded. The fight took place some miles above the beta of Brady's creek, about a hundred wiles above Mason, which distance was made in twenty-furn hours.

Advice and Who Gare II. The Journal and the Courier, at differ times, have both felt exiled up on to address the payle of other States upon pending elections A low days ago, in view of the great results directly or indirectly to follow the election then soon to be held in Indiana and other States, we gave our advice to the friends of the Constilution and the Union therein. It was plain, Irank, and honest, and it is only by the grossest p rversion of our language that even our encnies can find fault with one word we uttered. We gave our advice, as we trust ever to do when we conceive it to be necessary for us to speak anguage as the readers of the Journal have never had addressed to them; and such, we fear, as they will never read in that paper. Read it again:

Yen owe it to yourselves, to your States, to posterity, to act defiberately and understandingly—to act for your country, and not for merparty ends. Were we in your lace, we would vote for our principles, for the Constitution, ar the Union; because the Union cannot exist without the Constitution, and the latter estimation gravive its deliberate violation. If there were a caudidate or ticket standing on what we want even do be the doctrines of the Constitution, no such ticket or caudidate, we would not dare to vote at all; for In voting, no naster whim the pretext, for one whose principles we believe to be the constitution, we would leed that we were guilty of unoral treason—that leef that we were guilty of moral treason—that we were striking a blow at the Union, which, either now or hereafter, might prove latal.

That was our advice, of which the co-organ here complain and with which they valuly try to find foult. This is the advice which they say wa ntended to promote the election of Lincoln. We have only to contrast this with what our ntemp raries have sald under somewhat slinilar circumstances, to show how much weight their criticisms are entitled to.

Last August, there was an exciting and somewhat important contest between CLINTON Me-CLARTY, the regularly nominated Democratic candidate, and LESLIE COMBS, the candidate and representative of Know Nothingism, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, in Kentneky. A few days before that election, the Douglas organ here said to its friends:

our second meeting that he would be prevaile upon to give up Breckinridge. At last all of u agreed, and we east the vote of the State, or rather our half of it, fifty odd times for slame Gutbrie, of Kentucky, and once for Robert Hunter, of Virginia. These facts are surel most supple to show Mr. Gutbrie, his friend and every man in the State of Kentucky and "If there is one public if duty devolving upon the boughos Democrats, more sucred than another, it is a vote approval MCLARTY, the numines of the rail of ballers." "Vote against McCLARTY," and for COMBS!

That is the advice the Democrat gave.
In 1856, pending a hotly contested election in the State of Indiana, between Mr. WILLARD, a sound National Democrat, and Mr. Monton, a violent Black Republican, candidates for Governor, the Journal volunteered to tell its friends wast they should do. Here is the advice it

Our opinion is frequently asked by our Amer lean friends in Indiana as to the course the ought to take in their October election. They have better m ans, and are no doubt better able would do not a little to weaken and paralyze the Buchanan party throughout the nation, a party that lives and breathes and has its being in the bitterest and most fiendlike hostility to all the principles of site American party and all the men of whom it is composed.

Mr. Morron, whom it then tried to elect, was the Black Republican candidate for Lieutenaut Governor It tried to defeat on Tuesday last .it opposed him, and he was elected, a majority of its own friends disregarding its advice and voting for Lim.

Such is the advice, given at different times. and on different occasions, by the Courier and its city contemporaries. We are willing for the quit shricking about disunion, and go to work like practical men to preserve the confederacy? public to decide which is the best, soundest, and most creditable to the paper glving it. They know that BRECKINEEDGE alone has any Prove It:

The foried traders in principles, who attempted by little arrangements with party leaders to control whole political organizations as they would move pawns on a chess board, regardless of everything but the accomplishment of their purposes, with characteristic mendacity charge the effects of their own knavery on those the exhausted every means, prior to the election, to drive into a support of the Black Republicans. Before the election, they abused what they encered at as the "little squad of bolters," as "disunionists," "traitors," "assassins," and the like, refused to unite with them against the Black Republicans, and preferred the embraces of Know Nothingism. Now they accuse them as falsely as they charged them with similar offences before the election.

We deny emphatically that any considerable ortion of the Democracy of Indiana voted for LANE and his State licket. We call for proof of the charge. In the absence of any such proof, the accusers must stand convicted of the utterance and propagation of a very mean fal-chood—a falschood intended to shield themselves from the consequences of their own

The Paris correspondent of the Boston Post, remarks:
Paris has been thrown into a kind of uproar, during the last few days, by the execution of the threat intered some menths since by Madame Jenny of Berleonit, of putting the ladies in the way of lording it over their lords. The book so dreaded by the sovereigns of the creation has appeared. It is called La Fenone Affectively, and has met with all the attention it deserves. It can not fail to do an immense deal of good. Madame d'Hericourt does not seek to lower man in the eyes of woman, but in his own. No hear-brained dreamer of the rights of women—no twaddler imploring that justice be done to the sex is she, but a brave champlon of their cause, who, grounding her argument; upon the theory she first started, some year, ago, of the passing away of the "miscular age, deduces therefrom the advent of the reign of nerves and brain. In these the woman has eye been equal to the man, and therefore steam and The truth is, had not the great body of the Democracy—the supporters of Breekintuber, and Lane-voted for Hendricks, the latter would have been defeated by fifty thousand .-Some of them, probably, dld not vote at all, having no choice between the Squatter Soverciguty allies of Know Nothingism and the adcates of Lincolnism; but the example of the Douglasites in Kentucky, who voted directly for LESLIE COMES against the Democratic nomnee for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, was not followed by one-tenth or one-twentieth of the Democrate of Indiana, notwithstanding the insults and abuse heaped upon them by leading friends of the HENDRICES State tickel.

The Difference.

ago, of the passing away of the "musenlarage," deduces therefrom the advent of the reign of nerves and brain. In these the woman has ever been equal to the man, and therefore steam and machinery have been sent for her especial benefit and liberation from slavery.

Proudlom is so completely overthrown by the Penane Affranchie, that he will searcely be able to riso again while Michelet is re luced to the part of a snivelling driveller and moralizing mort, which he evidently covets. Madame d'Hericourt is the founder of the "Daughters of 93," a society which receives lato its bosom none but numarried women, and whose mission is to go for the manner of the globe of the part of the globe as an as France is concerned, it is time some wise and powerful spirit took the task in hand. Macame d'Hericourt is right; the country is marching to perdition between a file of stockjobbers and a procession of contrezams. Our some are destined to swell the ranks of destruction, and our daughters to become clements of dissolution. Our lathers had promised liberty to the world—those who deny it to the half of humanity can not be litted to redeem that promise. All sense of morality is gone from among men of the French race, the women should each the promise of the promise. The Conrier did not advise Democrats in Indiana to vote for "anybody" to defeat Hinbricks; the Douglas organ here advised its friends to vote for "any body" to best McClar-17. The Courier did not advise the Democrats of Indiana to vote for the State candidates opposed to the HENDRICES ticket; the Douglas r an here did all it could in August for the ear didate of posed to the Democratic nominee. The Courier does not rejoice over the election of Lane: the Douglas organ did rejoice over the success of Comas the Know Nothing. If any Democrat in Indiana voted for LANB or any other Black Republican candidate, the Courier says he did wrong, and neither excuses nor stiemple to mitigate the offence: the Dougt. as organ believes those of its friends who voted for Comes did right, and either frankly commends, or does

The last Democratic State Convention in Keutneky was called before the nominations at Baltimere were made, and without reference to the Presidential contest. A good Democrat, who never in all his life voted for any other than the candidates of his party, was placed in nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. The Dorollas organ urged, entreated, implored its include to defeat him, knowing this only could be done by the election of Combs the Kaow Nothing: It rejoiced with exceeding great joy over the triumph of Know Nothingsam, and the defeat of McClart? It is meet that a should lecture bolters?

WM. Press in Jounston, Breckingide Elector, and H. W. Bruce, Bell Elector, had an interesting disension at Salina P. O., in the Pond Settlements, on Thursday afternoon, Mr. Johnston not only answered them in such a way that this opponent adopted them as Lis own. His restment.

his opponent adopted them as his own. His rebis opponent adopted them as his own. His reply was aubstantially like game with that of Gro. W. Johnson, Breckinridge Elector, to the query of the Democral.

When patriotic gentlemen agreess to the of Mr. Thems Lewis, who was too young to affect the control of the control of pletform and future to ley of the country, it seems hard that a diversion should be attempted by the bell men, to deleat the only candidate able to cope with Lincoln.

SOAP. LOUISVILLY, KY, WE OFFER THIS SOAP TO THE PUBLIC WITH the full assurance that, if the directions given are earlied out, it will save trian, tasks and unaw. All we ask is a fair risk; then let it stand upon its owngacits, among other advantages of this over other Washing Soa. The full of the same may be mentioned: the fairlet.

2. But one-half the risk and taken will be required to do a washing by using this Soap in preference to any other. 3. The clothes need but little rubbing, and, in most ses, no boiling.

For washing hands it is greatly superior to any combo Soop, as it does not chap, but has a tendency to softthe skin.

It cannot be surpassed for removing link, Tar and cage choix also for cleaning Paints.

Gross and Net Whight of Cattle.—The ordinary rule of ascertaining the net weight of beef cattle from the live weight on the scales, varies according to quality, size, and age, and after all is no rule at all, because it is entirely a matter of agreement between the parties at the time. It also depends upon the locality. In New York, the net weight of the beef in the quarter only is wanted. In Boston, the hideand lat are included, counting those products equal to one-quarter of the brel, or rather, calling the whole five quarters. There the net weight of a fat bullock is estimated at 60 to 68 pounds of each 100 of live weight. In extra line animals, the percentage is higher. In New York, where the hide and fat are lett out of the calculation, the bullocks are estimated at 55 to 60 pounds net to each 100 pounds gross, and if the animal is very fine, the estimate runs from 61 to 64 pounds net to each 100 pounds gross. Extraordinary animals sometimes dress 65 or 66 pounds, and even higher, and ordinary and lean stock run from 55 down to 47, though not often below 50 pounds, or one-half the live weight at home. The common practice at the West, let to weigh faired eather some hours often rededing, and a little exercise, and calculate the red weight at 55 pounds per 100 of the live weight.—[New Yerl, Tribune.] to first July, and from first representation of regularly TICE. How Roots Feen.—Can the roots of plants take up only such substances which are dissolved in the ground and thus prejared for the it, or can they themselves dissolve them?

This question has been solved by Liebig, and by experiments made before the Society of Natural Science in Carlstniae, by his proved that the roots of plants, by giving forth some acid, probably carbonic acid, do dissolve the alkali, animonia, and phosphorus in the soil. Dr. Schimper showed the meeting, as a further proof of Liebig's dot trine, some pebbies which videntily had been estemated by roots of plants. The fact was visible; the process, however, is not yet clear.

This valuable discovery of the great chemist goe clearly to show us why the rains and flouds cannot wash out of the ground the substances forming the food of plants; on the contrary, we now know that the carbt takes from the liquids which touch it, and solidly appropriates substances which are roots of the plants again absorb by their action. In the same way we clearly perceive how plants can draw from the soil substances which are solids, and which are not soluble by water.—[Dentschus Magazin.] 6.000 common mediucky, and for sale by CASTLEMAN, MURRELL & CO. PEACH TREES LIABLE TO WINTER KILL.-In ections of our country, peach trees, es vihose one and two years planted our unfant in growth, are linhic to be del during the winter. This arises in stroyed during the winter. This arises in a measure from an unripened condition of the tree at the approach of winter. As a remedy, in part, we have heretofore advised, and now again advise a complete shortening back of this year's growth, say one-half, early in October, or the latter part of September. Trees so shortened back, mature the remaining buds and wood, and before they again commence growing and throwing out side shoots, cold weather is apan them, and they are in a fully ripened condition to endure his rigors. In clay land, surface drains should be made with a hoc or plow, so that water will never stand on or about the roots.—

HRANDRETH'S PILLS

Are growing more in favor, with the public. It is now conceded they are the best purgative yet put forth from the world of medicine. The time will surely arrive when they will supercede sil other purgatives whatever. The ingredients of which they are composed can scarcely be obtained by druggists or the makers of other pills. Dr. Baarmann loss them grown and prepared without recard to the expense. And this care to make a popular purgative is appreciated, as their sales indicate. Other purgative has not expected, and the sales indicate. Other purgative have some merit. But Branderm's Pills are safe and sare—safe, because they operate solely to impure humors. CAUTION. SPURIOUS AMERICAN WATCHES.

WE are credibly informed that some of the Jewelers of niltation American Valches for the genuine article, anfactured at Waltham, Mass., and particularly a foreign imitation of our walch, named P. S. Bertley, which s represented to be manufactured in Hartford, Conn. It is no manufactory of watches in that place. The cenuine article of one grade of our watchea is named P. S. Brat-LETT, WALTBAM, Mass, and all our watches of every grade are marked " Waltham, Muss."

It is hardly necessary to state that such walches ar like ours in form only, and are made upon the same old that are not only vexatious and a constant source of expense, but really useless to the owners, and when boucht for genuine are calculated to injure the high reputation which our watches have attained. We therefore caution who cannot furnish a certificate of genuineness for every watch offered for sale, bearing the number of the watch and the signature of the Treasurer of the Company, R. E. Robbins. We also besto inform those who deal in the spurlous article, that legal proceedings will be instituted against them, upon any well authenticated instance of their selling a counterfeit or colorable imitation of any of our products.

STEAMSHIP ETNA.

Boston, Oct. 12.—The steamship Etna, from Liverpaool on the 29th, on Halitax, has arrived. We have little additional news.
Lord Russell's notes to James Hindson, British Minister to Turin, express fears that the attack on the Roman States and Kingdom of Naples may lead to an attack upon portions of Anstria and Veneta. It the King of Piedmont was not at liberty to accept the preliminaries of Villafranca and the treaty of Zurich, now that he has pledged his reval word, he is not at therry to attack a nation with which he promised to live in peace and the areas and an exposed to all the choices of uncertainty.

Libribata had consonted to the deputation of the Ventians Padishing Journal in Naples to exert the people of Ventia to general trising. He told them the present war was the only national one which could give them a country. Our battles are so many markets in our progress to the Alps, on the summit of which alone we will stoy. He anthorized them to act as an association for the purpose of raising a subsidy for all kinds of insurrectional war-maxing.
